LETTER TELLS OF PACIFIC ISLANDS

REV. R. C. DENISON WRITES OF OUR ISLAND POSSESSIONS

MANY JAPANESE LABORERS

Climate Equable and Scenery Very Beautiful—Natives Dying Off.

Appended is a letter from the Rev. R. C. Denison, who with Malcolm, Donald and Kenneth Joffis is taking a trip to Japan and the Pacific Islands. Mr. Denison's letter shows that the Yellow Peril is not confined to this country, as not only are the native Hawaiians declining from the effects of civilization and competition but also the American laborers and mechanics are being forced out by the Japanese and other laborers imported by the men owning the big sugar plantations.

The letter is as follows:
Honolulu—At daybreak Monday morning, July 6th, the Mongolia was moving off the north coast of Molokai, one of the group of Hawaiian Islands, famous principally as being the place of the leper colony where Father Damien, the Belgian priest, lived and died among his outcasts. Off to the northwest lies Oahu, the best known and most frequently visited of the islands, on which is the port city Honolulu, where the trans-Pacific steamers call. Oahu is a mountainous island, with a population of nearly one hundred thousand. These islands are of volcanic origin, said to be the youngest land on the earth and are much more completely covered with verdure than I had expected to see them. Oahu makes a beautiful sight as the ship enters the narrow channel of the harbor of Honolulu, with its green hills edged toward the sea by the brilliant blue of the shallow water inside the reef, which surrounds the island and over which the surf breaks in long white flashes of foam. We had the day in Honolulu. Somewhere along the middle of the 16th century these islands were known to the Spaniards. They were visited by the natives on Hawaii, the largest and southernmost of the group. He called them the Sandwich Islands, after the Earl of Sandwich, his patron, but that name has of late largely given way to the name of Hawaiian Islands. In 1790 Kamehameha, a chief of the southern part of the island of Hawaii, began a career of conquest and expansion for his own tribe which was carried on successfully until he had mastered all the islands. The last battle in this little empire-building enterprise was fought high up in one of the valleys of the island of Oahu. Kamehameha defeated his opponents and drove them backward up the defile to a point where the valley terminates in a narrow gap between two mountain peaks and from which there is the sheer fall of a precipice of some seven or eight hundred feet. Over this precipice the remnants of the defeated army, some 1,000 men, were driven. The view from the point of the tragic defeat is most beautiful, looking out past the gray walls of the precipice over a many colored panorama of sea and land.
Kamehameha set up a dynasty which continued until 1874, when a king in connection with the old conqueror was elected. At his death he was succeeded by his sister, Liliuokalani, better known as Queen Liliuokalani. In 1893 there was a revolution and in 1894 a republic was set up. The islands applied for annexation in 1897 but the measure was defeated in the senate. The breaking out of the Spanish war however made the control of the islands necessary and they were annexed in 1898. Queen Liliuokalani died a pensioner of $75,000 a year by the government and is still living in Honolulu.
The islands have considerable agricultural importance. About 200,000 acres of sugar cane are under cultivation, one half being cropped each year. This is the principal product of the islands and is largely in the hands of corporations which work on the plantation system. Besides sugar, rice, coffee, bananas, pineapples, mangoes, oranges, lemons, grapes and coconuts are raised. The climate is called the most equable in the world, with a mean temperature of about 73 degrees.

FOOT NEARLY CUT OFF BY A MOWER

Carl Latzke Was Victim of Terrible Accident at Farm Near Koskoning Station Last Evening.
At his farm, located three miles from Koskoning station, Carl Latzke had his left foot nearly severed by a mowing machine, at a late hour yesterday afternoon. A team of horses was hitched to the machine and Mr. Latzke was standing in front of it when the animals suddenly became frightened and made a dash for the other side of the field. Before the driver could get out of the way, the sharp knives caught his left foot from the rear and severed both bones three inches above the ankle. The foot was hanging by a strip of flesh when the wounded man's cries attracted attention and friends came to his aid. Mrs. E. P. Woods and George W. Pfeiffer left here at 6 p. m. in an automobile and reached the scene in less than an hour. They found the patient weak from the loss of blood, but still conscious. The wound was dressed with all possible haste and Latzke was brought back to Mercy hospital, where Dr. Woods again dressed the injured member this morning. If all goes well the foot may be saved, but the victim of the accident will be confined to his bed for many weeks.

RHINELANDER MEN ARE UNDER ARREST

Deputy U. S. Marshal W. H. Appleby Took Squad of Alleged Counterfeiters to Madison Yesterday.

Deputy U. S. Marshal W. H. Appleby visited Rhinelander yesterday with a warrant for the Homebushs, in connection with the charge of counterfeiting and passing counterfeit coins. At the hearing before County Commissioner L. J. Billings, Rhinelander and Albert Homebush waived examination. The court fixed the bonds at $3,000 each. The trial will take place before the United States district judge at La Crosse on Sept. 15. The three brothers were taken to Madison last night by Marshal Appleby. The mother and daughter are released from custody. A complete and intricate plot was discovered at the farm on Monday, giving evidence that operations of counterfeiting were not confined to gold and silver coins.

FAIR GROUNDS TRACK SCENE OF ACTIVITY

Dozen Promising Horses Are Being Trained For Fall Race Meets Under Direction of William Holt.
Once more the race track at the fair grounds, abandoned for the most part, in recent years, to the memories and traditions of the days when Janesville was on the turfman's map, feels the hoofbeat of the trotter and pacer and presents just a semblance of the old-time activity. About a dozen head of horses, mostly green ones and colts, who have a record, are being trained under the direction of William Holt of Delavan. The latter is widely known as a speed developer and has general supervision over all the work, besides attending to the five young horses which he brought here early in the season. Mr. Van Pool has three colts in the string. District Attorney J. L. Maher has two three-year-olds that are showing up well. Charles Heddles two-year-old colt gives signs of promise and Lafayette Myers' place is also making good showing. A four-year-old of Charles' is being rounded into shape with L. D. McKimney at the reins and a well-bred yearling belonging to Mr. Grayford of Beloit is developing some speed.
Charles' horse is leading a 2:30 record right along and Heddles' colt can show 2:30. Van Pool's pacer horse went the mile in 2:23 1/4, a short time ago. Most of the youngsters are ready for work or will be this fall in time for the different fairs. Heddles' colt is ready to start in the two-year-old class, as is the Charles' colt. Maher's horses will be ready when the time comes though they were only recently broken. McKimney's horse "The Rex" is a fine big animal and so far as speed prospects are concerned, is one of the best in Southern Wisconsin. It is a young horse with a mark of 2:14 1/4 but can show a gait of 2:10 at any time.
The horses are given their regular work every day and on Tuesdays and Fridays they are tried out in the track. This at present is in fairly good condition, being kept up by the stewards, McKimney, Holt and Van Pool who are in charge of the training. If the horses continue in good condition they may all be expected to give good accounts of themselves this fall.

JACK THE HUGGER IN FIRST WARD?

Unknown Wretch Is Reported to Have Attacked Four Women Within the Past Fortnight.

According to various vague rumors and at least one definite report, the First Ward has been haunted at intervals during the past fortnight by a mysterious "Jack the Hugger" who has been attacking women and who will be largely dealt with if he falls into the hands of the law. John H. Hafferty, traveling salesman for G. W. Brosse marble-cutting establishment, has informed the police that his wife was attacked by this wretch while on her way to the home at 15 Chatham street, about nine o'clock, a week ago Saturday evening. Though badly frightened, she succeeded in making her escape. The same individual is reported to have thrown a little girl to the ground but to have been unable to stop her screams and to have taken to his heels. About the same time a woman coming from the passenger station is said to have been accosted by a man attired only in a hat and a linen duster, who emerged from a barn and insisted on carrying her dress suit case. It is rumored that a West Hill street young woman whom he approached repelled his advances by jabbing him in the face with a hatpin. Beyond the details of his being young and tall, no clear description of the evil character has been furnished the police.

Monroe, Wis., June 12.—Harry Palmer of this city, who missed a cow from his pasture and traced it to the hide cellar of Adam Schmidt, has started an action to recover the value of the cow against Arthur Gilmore, who kept cows in the same pasture and sold cows to a local butcher. The hide was brought into court and identified by Palmer. O. O. ## A PESTIFEROUS GERM.

Burrows Up the Scalp Into Dandruff and Saps the Hair's Vitality.
People who complain of falling hair as a rule do not know that it is the result of dandruff, which is caused by a pestiferous parasite burrowing up the scalp as it digs down to the sheath in which the hair is fed in the scalp. Before long the hair root is shrivelled up and the hair drops out. If the work of the germ is not destroyed hair keeps thinning till baldness comes. The only way to cure dandruff is to kill the germ, and until now there has been no hair preparation that would do it; but today dandruff is easily eradicated by Snowbro's Herpicide, which makes hair glossy and soft as silk. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.
Two sizes, 50c and $1.00.

You Do Not If You Patronize the MAIL ORDER TRUST

Patronize your home stores—patronize the merchants you know. When you buy from your local merchant you are helping your City, your County, our State and Yourself.

One Dollar spent with your local merchant means eleven dollars in circulation for eight days; that dollar you paid out passed through the hands of ten more people in about a week as figured out by experts of our monetary system.

If you send that dollar to the Mail Order Trust, for goods,—that could have been bought at home—that dollar is gone out of circulation from your City, from your neighborhood—and no doubt sent out of this country. Every dollar spent with your local merchants, means ten times more prosperity for your city or neighborhood.

If any article you buy at home is not satisfactory, you have some one to talk to, show why the article is defective, and 99 times out of 100 the local merchant will make good the defect or return the money. If you want a favor, if you want to build a church, or raise a little money or assistance for an unfortunate brother—why don't you send to the mail order firms, instead of asking your local merchants and neighbors? When you want a little credit, a friend, a pall bearer, or assistance in case of trouble or sickness, you do not ask the Mail Order Trust.

In the days long gone by, when you were starting for yourself, who did you ask for a little credit? Is it a square deal to cut off the local merchant now, because you have prospered in the past few years? The Gazette submits a list of reliable firms of Janesville, who can furnish you with anything you need—Cheaper than you can buy the same goods from any Mail Order House. If you want something different from what they have in stock, they will be pleased to get same for you, and at a cheaper price, quality considered, than the Mail Order Trust. ## CROPS AND PANICS

A large yield of the principal crops this year was absolutely essential to prevent a continuance of depressed business conditions. If on the top of the blow to confidence and the collapse of prices caused by the panic there should be a failure of the crops this year, business conditions would be so prostrated that it would take a long time to bring about a rally. The promising outlook for the crops, therefore, makes it possible to look forward with hope and courage.

But while a crop failure would have been disastrous, it does not necessarily follow that one year's good crops insure an immediate and full return to the former level of high prosperity. The point is made by some conservative observers that two successive good crop years are necessary for a complete recovery from panic conditions. If we had two successive good crop years, there is no knowing to what length of activity and high prices American business might go.

A succession of short crops lengthened out the depression caused by the panic of 1893. The five-year average of wheat for the period ending with 1893 was $345,000,000 farm value. In 1894 the farm value was $225,000,000, and in 1895 it was $237,000,000, and in 1896, $310,000,000. The five-year average farm value of corn during the period ending 1893 was $684,000,000. In 1894 the output was $551,000,000; in 1895, $541,000,000 and in 1896 $101,000,000.

It is exceedingly fortunate for this country that the experience of the 1893 panic is not to be repeated and that we are pretty sure to have crops this year of ample proportions. This fact gives promise of a more rapid return to business confidence and activity than in former panics. A second year of good crops would make that promise certain.

There is something that can be said in behalf of every man who seeks an office, but sometimes it costs the candidate a lot of money to impress the people with his own greatness.

This primary law is one which is not as pleasing to the candidates as it was when it was talked of several years ago.

This rain has brought gladness to the farmers' hearts and accomplished thousands of dollars' worth of good to the growing crops.

Mr. Bryan was informed that he was the democratic nominee for President today and he was so surprised.

Opposition to Senator Whitehead has apparently dropped down to an insignificant contest. Whitehead is too strong a man to be lost to the state.

This Stranek campaign in Wisconsin promises to be funny before it is ended.

With a republican majority of nearly thirty in the United States senate, a body in which only one-third of its membership retires every two years, it has been argued by a good many people that it didn't make much difference whether Mr. Bryan was elected president or not, inasmuch as the senate would stand between him and the accomplishment of any radical legislation which he might desire, says the Wall Street Journal.

The fact that this senate would not have been able to defeat the plans of Mr. Bryan. The argument is that Mr. Roosevelt had the advantage of belonging to the same political party as the majority of the senate, and moreover that Mr. Roosevelt is a man of far greater force of character than Mr. Bryan.

There is something in this argument, of course, and it does constitute a considerable degree of insurance against the complete triumph of Bryanism. A majority of twenty-nine in a senate of ninety-four members is so great that it would take a political tidal wave of vast proportion to sweep it away; but if Mr. Bryan can obtain votes enough to elect him president, he would have to carry a good many republican states, some of which will elect members of the United States senate next year, and if he carries these states it is reasonable to suppose that democratic senators would also be chosen from them. The republican majority therefore would certainly be reduced, and perhaps so far reduced, that two years later it would be wiped out altogether.

Then there are in the senate a few extremely radical republican senators, and by the developments of this year the number of republican radicals is to be increased. Mr. Bristow, a radical, is to succeed Mr. Long from Kansas. In all probability Gov. Cummins will succeed Allison from Iowa. Another radical republican will be elected from South Dakota, and there will be in the next senate, therefore, a core of possibly seven or eight republican senators whose radicalism very nearly equals that of Bryan. If Bryan should be president with a reduced republican majority in the senate, this faction of republican radicals might hold the balance of power, and holding this balance of power they might in many cases throw it in favor of Mr. Bryan's schemes.

These are facts that should serve to make those people who imagine that it doesn't make any difference whether they vote for Bryan or not, think a sober second thought, and this sober second thought will increase the strength of Mr. Taft.

Stagnantly enough the triumph of the radicals in several of the western states also serves to strengthen Taft, as it will make the radical republicans in those states less likely to vote for Bryan, and thus this political development operates in two ways, apparently contradictory to each other, to help the republican presidential ticket.

While with Mr. Bryan as president an aggressive radical republican faction in the senate would probably be dangerous to the country, on the other hand, with Mr. Taft as president looking at public issues through his judicial eyes and acting in his characteristic diplomatic fashion, these radicals might prove a very desirable addition to the senate. The Aldrich machine, which has so long governed the senate, really needs the correcting and moderating and irritating opposition of such men as La Follette and Cummins.

Newspapers who are trying to belittle Thos. S. Nolan's campaign find it hard work to make something out of nothing. Mr. Nolan has an enviable record and stands open to inspection. He is a republican from the ground up and would represent the district as it should be, if nominated and elected.

The opportunity to witness one of the most spectacular state fairs that has yet been held in Wisconsin is promised the residents of the state this year if the preparations being made at the state fair grounds in Milwaukee count for anything.

In L. C. Whitte's first assembly district of Rock county has an opportunity to send a successful businessman to the assembly this coming winter and it is to be hoped they will not neglect the opportunity.

Around Bryan's farm at Lincoln is a wire fence, the posts of which are a Janesville product. Thus does Janesville help the democratic candidate keep at arms' length the great hoards of the unwashed.

Mr. Trotman will receive the majority of the votes for the Lt.-Governorship this year, although Mr. Stranek's name will appear just above his on the ballot.

There is something that can be said in behalf of every man who seeks an office, but sometimes it costs the candidate a lot of money to impress the people with his own greatness.

This primary law is one which is not as pleasing to the candidates as it was when it was talked of several years ago.

Pretty Expensive Ditch
 Exchange: Engineers estimate the cost of a new canal 20 feet deep between Lake Huron and Montreal at $99,000,000, and though the Canadians number only 6,000,000 the figures have a bargain counter look to them.

Not the English Kind
 Detroit News-Tribune: England sees nothing fun nor sorrow in our drama. The island cannot possibly double up in mirth when one stage character tells another that he spent a month in Philadelphia last week. Our jokes are for home consumption. So is our pathos. Just the same as our national game, our style of roasting, and the way we pronounce "hain."

Same True Here in Measure
 Appleton Post: "The young girls, many of them short dresses, and around the streets of Appleton at night, usually accompanied by youths who are headless but well aged in other respects, is nothing less than scandalous. It is safe to say that the town would be agitated if it were all at once made aware of the extent and prowling on the part of Appleton's too frequent results of this night young girls."

La Follette Sways Kansas
 St. Louis Globe-Democrat: The nomination of Joseph L. Bristow for the republican primaries of Kansas Tuesday, for the seat in the United States senate now occupied by Senator Long is almost universally credited to the influence of Senator La Follette of Wisconsin. The fight began over two years ago when Long was helping to block the La Follette program in the senate. The Wisconsin man went into Kansas and read Long's legislative record before the local Chautauqua associations. Bristow was the logical beneficiary of this influence, and he had besides the powerful support of a brother-editor of fame, William Allen White. Bristow boldly declared from the stump that he would vote with any party to secure the reduced freight rates for Kansas, while Long said that he would be guided by the republican caucus.

The same primary resulted in the nomination of W. R. Stubbs for governor on a Democratic platform, defeating Leonard by 26,000. Stubbs made his canvass largely by means of the telephone, spending much time and money talking direct to voters over the long distance phone. He is big, jolly and red-headed.

Senator Stephenson.
 Wausau Independent: Of all the candidates in the field for the republican nomination for United States Senator there is only one with a record of things accomplished in the halls of the national legislature—Senator Stephenson of Marquette—and as the knowledge of a man's past life is the best criterion as to what his future will be, it is but to be wondered at that Senator Stephenson's candidacy, in meeting with popular favor throughout the state.

Back in the old Mr. Stephenson served two terms as a member of the Wisconsin legislature. In 1882, 1881 and 1886 he was elected to congress, and might have continued in that office had not his private business affairs demanded his entire time, thus compelling him to decline a fourth term as a member of the House of Representatives.

Mr. Stephenson's extensive business experience and his long association with the leading legislature of the state and the nation have equipped him to an unusual degree for the duties of United States Senator, and it is but natural that the thinking men of Wisconsin should want him to continue representing this state in the greatest legislative body in the world.

Feeling in Illinois Runs High.
 Chicago Tribune: "NO CANDIDATE LAYING IN THIS OFFICE! WE LEAVE THAT TO OTHERS!" From the Inter Ocean of Aug. 10th.

Now that the report of the primaries is concluded and the public can settle down to a few weeks' surcease from politics it should be noted that Mr. Lorimer's inconspicuous organ, which originally announced that Yates had carried the state by 20,000, yesterday professed to believe that the result of the primary was still in doubt.

With characteristic ingenuitism it asked its readers to go behind the returns and to believe that the newspapers of the city are misrepresenting facts. "The only republican newspaper in Chicago," not content with publishing unflattering news, apparently having determined to read out of the party the majority of republican voters. Before the majority submits to exclusion by Mr. Lorimer, and his organ, and the rest of the minority, they should consider (if they care to take the time to do so) that "The only republican newspaper in Chicago" opposed Roosevelt, opposed Taft, and opposed Deven, republican president, republican candidate for president, republican governor and candidate for governor respectively.

La Follette to Have Organ?
 Milwaukee Sentinel: Once again will Robert M. La Follette emulate the example of William Jennings Bryan, if he and his followers are successful in the scheme on which they are actively engaged. And if that success for which he hopes crowns his efforts, Wisconsin will have a state weekly paper similar to Bryan's Commonwealth, and Robert M. La Follette, United States senator and presidential aspirant, will be editor.

According to reports from various parts of the state, Wisconsin is being thoroughly and quietly canvassed by La Follette lieutenants in an effort to secure a guaranteed subscription list of 10,000 names before the project is publicly launched. The appeal for co-operation is being made to those who are supposed to be friendly and still loyal to the senator, and the effort has been made to have the appeal regarded as confidential.

Mr. La Follette needs an organ. That is an open secret. The present movement is regarded as an indication of the complete break between him and his former organ in this city, and of the finality of the break in the relations between him and Senator Stephenson. The former enterprise not being calculated to make any practical appeal even to a millionaire with money to burn, Mr. La Follette and his men have hit upon the plan of a guaranteed subscription as a means of financing the project.

McGovern Hoes Hard Row
 Green Bay Gazette: McGovern backers still insist that their man will remain before the people to the end as a candidate for senator. But it seems to take a newspaper interview every day to keep him there.

THIS MOTHER IS WRONG.
 A Worcester mother has burned her children's copies of "Mother Goose," Andersen's "Fairy Tales" and the whole juvenile library of classic fancy. Hereafter, she says, stern realism shall rule her nursery.

No Santa Claus,
 No Jack, the Giant Killer,
 No Alice in Wonderland,
 Only "facts."

Now, what does the woman think the fabric of a child's mind is made of? Why, the childish imagination is like an oriental garden run riot. Its early fancies are of the wildly improbable—visions impalpable, images that rise and fall. When the child calls the roll of its infantile heroes and heroines, strange shapes and glowing sprites answer, "Here."

There is no harm to the child's future in the kaleidoscope of its early imaginations. Sometimes, indeed, the mother may be startled at some of the special wonders seen and reported by her innocent offspring. She needs only to remember that she herself was once a child. She will understand.

In the early years the athletic mental forces are just getting under way for the long race that is ahead. What wonder if at first they indulge in some freakish gambols?

This Worcester mother would put a full stop to this gentle, preliminary training of the gathering mental powers of the child and bind them to the treadmill of the grownups. Impossible.

The warp and woof of the childish mind is not built that way. The child must needs indulge its childish dreams. It must needs wonder at the doings of the genii of the little folk—else it is not a child, but only a freak of nature! It seems this too careful Worcester mother is afraid lest the "fancies of infancy" may foster the superstitions of maturity. Is it so? Has it been so of all the hosts of the children of the past who have so devoutly bent to the wondrous waying of the wondrous wand of the fairy queen?

The solitary mother may take away and burn at the stake every fairy book in the house. Nevertheless nature never yet tamely permitted a case of arrested development.

KAISER AND KING HAVE LONG TALK

WILLIAM AND EDWARD CONFER AT FRIEDRICHSHOF.

THEIR MEETING CORDIAL

Frank Discussion of the European Situation Held, After Which British Ruler Departs for Austria.

Cronberg, Aug. 12.—King Edward arrived here Tuesday and was met at the station by Emperor William and his suite. The king and emperor kissed each other on both cheeks and embraced in the most cordial manner. After the monarchs had been introduced to each other's suites the king and the emperor entered an open automobile and were driven to the Friedrichshof castle, where they had a long talk before lunch.

Sir Charles Harcourt, representing the British foreign office; Baron Von Jensch of the German foreign office, and Sir Frederick Lascelles, the British ambassador to Germany, also had a long conversation together in the morning.

Hold a Private Conference.
 The king and the emperor continued their private talk after lunch. It is affirmed, however, by both British and German officials that no actual proposals of any sort were under consideration. The value of the meeting, in the political sense, is in the frank talking over of the European situation by King Edward and Emperor William and representatives of the British and German foreign offices.

Discuss Naval Program?
 Berlin, Aug. 12.—The Tagblatt Tuesday says it shares the view of some London newspapers that King Edward and Emperor William have discussed the questions of naval programs at Cronberg. In fact, the paper declares, it has learned from a "well-informed source" that such has been the case.

It has been rumored for some months past that the German government might make proposals to Great Britain for an agreement looking to the maintenance of proportional naval strength, but the report cannot be confirmed and it is not credited in responsible quarters.

Alfonso to Visit Paris.
 Paris, Aug. 12.—The Paris newspapers announced Tuesday that King Alfonso will visit the French capital in September on his way to the Isle of Wight to join Queen Victoria. From England his majesty will go to Vienna to visit Emperor Francis Joseph.

RPREPARING REPORT ON CROP VALUATION
 Statistics on Farm Products in Rock County For Board of Agriculture.

County Clerk Howard W. Lee is now at work preparing the annual report on farm products in Rock county which is to be transmitted to the Secretary of State and published in the annual report of the state board of agriculture. According to section 1010 of the Revised Statutes as amended by ch. 23 of the laws of 1902 each assessor at the time of making the annual assessment of property to collect statistics in relation to the growing crop and the crop raised in the preceding year of wheat, corn, oats, barley, rye, potatoes, sugar beets, tobacco, etc., and the number of acres devoted to each during the current year, also the number of bushels raised the preceding year. Small fruits are also to be tabulated and cultivated grasses, growing timber, and all stock.

These statistics have to be taken from the assessors' reports and tabulated under the twenty-seven several towns in this county and then sent to the Secretary of State.

The county clerk has been somewhat hampered in getting out this report from the fact that the seven assessors who should have had the reports in the first of the month have not yet sent them in.

Truth.
 Truth is at variance with our natures, but not so error; and for a very simple reason. Truth requires us to recognize ourselves as limited, but error flatters us with the belief that in one way or another we are subject to no bounds at all.—Gotho.

Artificial Flowers.
 In Paris the smart women have adopted the artificial flower almost universally, and it is used constantly in preference to real bloom. These flowers are pinned to the laps of tailor-made gowns.

STOOD THE TEST FOR SERVICE

If your teeth are beyond recovery, Why don't you come in and let me make you a new set?

Don't worry about the fit. I will attend to that.

I've had twenty years' experience at this work, and ought to know how to make good teeth by this time.

Just yesterday a party called at my office, bringing along a friend for some dental work.

Before leaving, he said, "look at them," pointing to his teeth.

"You made those teeth for me four years ago, and I can eat anything, anytime, anywhere."

"They are fine." That's the way it goes.

Let me do your work, and you can say so to him and others say.

"Dr. Richards' work fits, and is O. K. every time."

Pricest most reasonable in the city.

EDITH BABBITT IS AT PORTAGE

IN VISITING REV. AND MRS. J. D. WHITELAW AT THEIR HOME.

FLED TO ESCAPE ASYLUM

Girl is Well and Happy—Has Been Sought by Friends and Police Three Weeks.

Edith Babbitt, daughter of the late Congressman Babbitt of Beloit, is in Portage and notwithstanding the press reports regarding her mysterious disappearance and condition of health, who is well and happy and on a visit at the home of Rev. and Mrs. J. D. Whitelaw. Miss Babbitt was believed to be demented by her relatives and was anxiously sought for three weeks before her whereabouts were discovered.

When interviewed, Mrs. Whitelaw said that the statement that Miss Babbitt was not in her right mind was absurd and that there was considerable unpleasant family history connected with the affair.

Miss Babbitt left Chicago three weeks ago on account of the likelihood of arrest and trial for insanity. Mrs. Whitelaw, with whom she had resided in Portage for six months, from December 1 of last year to July 1 of this year, believing that an injury was likely to be done to the girl by such a course, visited her in Chicago and ascertained to her satisfaction that Miss Babbitt was in as beautiful a condition mentally as when she was at home. She left the Whitelaw home in Portage six weeks before and informed her of the approaching danger. Mrs. Whitelaw invited her to return to Portage with her. This Miss Babbitt was unwilling to do, as she wished to make her own livelihood in her own way and only asked a chance to do so.

When Miss Babbitt was unwilling to accept Mrs. Whitelaw's invitation, she urged her to cross the lake into Michigan and remain concealed until it was deemed safe to reveal her whereabouts. Miss Babbitt changed her plans after seeing Mrs. Whitelaw, leaving the latter entirely in the dark as to her whereabouts, and went to Indiana. She was at Terra Haute, Clinton and other points, and was closely pursued by the Chicago police and other interested parties and had many hairbreadth escapes. Her story outdoors in wilderness and reality that of Eliza in "Uncle Tom's Cabin."

Five days after leaving Chicago she found employment with a private family two hundred miles from Chicago in the state of Iowa. She did not reveal her whereabouts until Aug. 3, when Mrs. Whitelaw received a letter from her and immediately communicated her knowledge to the mother, Mrs. Clinton Babbitt of Beloit, and began corresponding with Miss Babbitt, Sunday morning at 1 o'clock Miss Babbitt came to the home of her friend, Mrs. Whitelaw, and is in the city at the present time.

A conference is to be held this afternoon with friends of the family who reside in Beloit; the situation will then be discussed and plans for the future will be made.

Miss Babbitt was not found by any searching party but revealed her whereabouts when she thought it safe to do so and came voluntarily to Portage when she knew that her absence was creating trouble and distress to her mother and her friends. She did not go into the city with a view to making money, but had sufficient money for her journey.

Miss Babbitt is a young woman of promising appearance, refined, sensitive and highly educated. During her stay in Portage last winter she made many friends there and is highly respected by all who know her.

Rev. Whitelaw has long been intimate with the late Congressman Babbitt and his family, and was the husband of Mr. and Mrs. Babbitt's oldest daughter, who is the mother of his children. Miss Babbitt has been much in the Whitelaw home and has looked upon Rev. Whitelaw as a brother and on the present Mrs. Whitelaw as a sister. Her long recent stay in the Whitelaw home strengthened the friendship and placed the Whitelaws in a position to act in her behalf and to speak for her mental condition if any one could.

GREAT MEETING WILL COME IN SEPTEMBER

Wisconsin State Fair Races Promise to Be the Greatest in History of State Turf.

"The Wisconsin state fair to be held at Milwaukee Sept. 7, 8, 9, 10, and 11, 1908, promises to be the most successful ever held in Wisconsin and the state fair management is making every effort to surpass the Minnesota state fair. The fastest horses racing ever entered at Milwaukee and something that will be made. Two years ago Hazel Patch, 2:02 1/2, and The Broncho, 2:00 1/2, were considered phenomenal horses, but there will be no many horses that compare with those two old favorites at the fair that they will be common," said Grant U. Fisher, superintendent of the grounds, today.

"Even the long time champion, Dan Patch, will no longer stand out in bold relief. A new champion has arrived and when Minor Heit, 2:01, starts at Milwaukee, records made by Dan Patch will no longer be world's records."

Dan Patch with a wind shield pulled the mile track in 2:03 1/2. The Broncho and Hazel Patch equalled that time. Minor Heit is expected to go below 2:00, and there are a number of others entered which will be close to him when it is done. The champion free for all pacer, Clanton, 2:03 1/2, which has won convention straight races against the best horses, will also be at Milwaukee. Charles Gino, green horse, was a close second in 1907 in 2:03 1/2, and is expected to be a 2:00 pacer by September."

There are probably twenty pacers entered at Milwaukee that can beat 2:05 and ten trotters that can beat 2:05.

O. E. S. Picnic: Janesville Chapter No. 69, Order of the Eastern Star, will hold a picnic at Yost park Tuesday, Aug. 18th. The cars will leave Baker's drugstore at 2:15 p. m. For further particulars telephone C. V. Kerch or W. H. Merritt.

BRIEF LOCAL NEWS.

Play Ball Next Sunday: The Crank Brewing Co. baseball team and the "Bachelors" nine will try conclusions at the fair grounds next Sunday afternoon at three o'clock, and the victors will enjoy a banquet at one of the local hotels at the expense of the vanquished. The grounds will be placed in first class condition and nothing short of a severe storm will be allowed to interfere with the contest.

Close Call in Turtle Creek: In attempting to ford Turtle Creek in the town of La Prairie with a team of horses one day last week, Anthony Wright and family had a narrow escape from drowning. The water was shallow enough where the horses waded in, but in the middle of the stream they stepped into a deep hole and in their right overturned the vehicle and threw the passengers out. The occupants of the rig sustained nothing more than a severe ducking and the horses were rescued before they had done any severe damage to the vehicle or themselves.

Mrs. R. M. Vaughan Here: Mrs. R. M. Vaughan arrived this morning in the city, stopping at the home of Mrs. H. F. Dunwiddie. Today she is the guest of the Ladies' Aid Society and the Missionary Circle at dinner in the Baptist church parlors. Put in New Walk: A gang of men have started at work grading for a gutter and cement sidewalk to be put in front of the South Janesville Improvement company's property and around the new hotel. Plans are being used to remove the sod and then regular grading work is being done.

Picnic Postponed: The picnic of the Sunday School of the United Brethren church, which was to have been held today has been postponed until Friday morning, on account of the weather.

Automobile Party: A Waukesha automobile party consisting of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Houtel and Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Baldwin was registered at the Grand hotel last evening.

SHOWERS OF STARS COMING THIS WEEK

Janesville Residents Can Witness Wonder Display of Meteorics for Several Nights.

The annual August display of meteoric showers which scientists have pronounced for this week was not in evidence last night, owing to the cloudy sky. However, Janesville people who are waiting for a view of the celestial fireworks may yet be rewarded, as fully a week will elapse before the constellation shall have completely passed the earth.

The last great display of meteors occurred in 1860, when great numbers of the huge fireballs sweeping across the heavens gave it the appearance of a vast umbrella-shaped canopy of fire.

Scientists assert the cause of shooting stars or meteors to be the disintegration of a comet. They are supposed to travel with tremendous velocity, sometimes attaining a speed of forty miles per second. The friction caused by contact with the atmosphere makes them white hot and they are then visible from the earth at a distance of about ninety miles.

PASSENGER TRAIN IN SERIOUS ACCIDENT

Part of Engine Broke While Train Was Going at High Rate of Speed.

The passenger train on the North Western road which is scheduled to reach Janesville at 6:50 p. m. arrived an hour and a half late last evening, having met with an accident near Merrimac while running at a terrific rate of speed. The accident in one sense was miraculously fortunate and it is remarkable that the long train was not involved in a disastrous wreck.

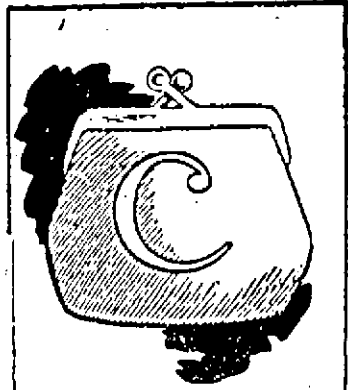

The train left Harbison about 4:30, five minutes late, having changed orders there as usual. Between Devil's Lake and Merrimac, not far from the well known rock formation called the "devil's nose," while the train was touring down grade at a rate of fully 60 miles an hour, the eccentric of the engine broke. A big metal plate about 25 or 30 pounds in weight fell down underneath the engine and also a heavy piece of brass fell between the rails. The extremely fortunate circumstance is that neither of these pieces of metal fell upon either of the rails, in which event death would have been caused and the result would have been the piling up of the flying train.

The train was stopped without injury to anybody and after a delay of an hour and a half at Merrimac proceeded to Lodi, where a new engine came from Harbison and completed the haul to Madison. The engine to which the accident happened was No. 1305 and the following engine was No. 1423. Few of the passengers were aware of the grave danger through which they had passed.

The train consisted of about half a dozen coaches, parlor car and baggage cars, and the train was loaded almost to its full seating capacity with passengers.

TUESDAY BARGAIN DAY A SUCCESS.

The merchants generally report that business yesterday was brisk and that many people took advantage of the big bargains offered. This has been quite a novelty in the business of Janesville as it shows a concerted effort of all the merchants to bring business, and it was done on the principle of giving the public big values for the money. Just what will be done to make next Tuesday a regular bargain day is hard to say, as it will require some systematic work to get concerted effort from all merchants, but judging from the sales made and the reports by the merchants it is confidently expected that these Tuesday Bargain days will be a frequent feature of the business activity of Janesville.

CHAPTER XXII.

REGORIO DEL PILAR, the picturesque Filipino leader, about whom so much has been written in praise by the war correspondents, was leading his men back into the danger fields, inviting the American pursuers into every trap which his crafty brain could devise.

Captain Groce, with a company of infantry, was following him closely and doggedly into the fastnesses far to the north. Village after village was dominated by the white troops, always a few hours after the wily Pilar had evacuated. Amigos laughed in their deceptive sleeves at the Americans and misdirected them with impunity. In eight cases out of ten the amigos were arms underneath his garment of friendship and slew in the dark whenever opportunity arose. Graydon Hunsamer was one of this doughty, eager company which blazed the way into the hills. Close behind came the bigger and stronger forces, with guns and horse, and the hospital corps. It was the hunt of death for Aguilado and Pilar.

Shortly after daybreak one morning a slim, black figure crept out from among the trees and gave the countersign to the challenging sentry. He was soon on his way to the captain's headquarters bearing news of importance. The brown skinned scout had traveled all night over a hazardous route, and he was more than welcome. He brought news that Pilar's men were off to the east and the north, well intrenched and prepared to fall upon the Americans when they advanced blindly into the trap laid for them. The newspaper men picked up their ears and at once looked to a box of carrier pigeons which formed a most important part of their pilgrimage. A slight wait at hand, doubtless an important meeting of the commanding forces. The whole army was waiting for intelligence of Pilar—waiting with little less anxiety than that which attended itself to the pursuit of Aguilado.

Captain Groce ordered Sergeant Connell with a picked squad to reconnoiter. They scurried off in advance of the company, with instructions to locate the elusive enemy and open up the secret of his position. Supposedly Pilar was ten miles off among the rocky foothills which guarded the pass through the mountains. As usual, Hunsamer was one of the scouts. He snatched his rucksack with the others and went forth eagerly to court the danger and excitement that was promised. For days they had had no fighting worthy the name. Amigos everywhere, villages peopled only by women and children, treacherous peacefulness on every side. This had been their encounter—an occasional rifle shot from the rice fields, a crackle of guns far ahead, a prisoner or two who had not been quick enough in transferring himself from combatant to friend, that was all. Now there seemed to be real fighting ahead.

Pilar was known to have many men—good soldiers all of them. The wily scout gave close and accurate directions as to his position. It remained for Connell's men to draw him out if possible. Captain Groce and the remainder of his eager company did not march until long after the scouts were on their precarious way.

Two hours after the party of eleven left the village a Manner bullet from a clump of trees far to the right cut through the hat of one of the scouts who was some distance in advance of his fellows. As he saw the scout stoop to pick up his hat Rogers turned to the man nearest him and remarked: "They'll get him sure as shootin' some day if he hikes along in that fool way."

It was no new experience for the scouts to find the quarry gone when they reached the place where they expected to find him. Pilar's own scouts had found that the ambush was destined to fail of its purpose, and the wily leader drew back into the more accessible country. The scouting party did not come in sight of the little brown soldiers. Before noon they were far up in the hills, everywhere met by the physical assurance that the enemy was not far ahead of them. Behind them came Captain Groce and his men and the two correspondents.

Amigos along the mountain road gave information that was not worth having. A deserted village showed signs of the passage, and finally there was proof ahead that Pilar had stopped to give battle. He had reached his vantage ground. Connell and his men drew back and waited. Nightfall came and with it the spiteful crack of the Manner rifle. A gray troop toppled over with a groan in his hand. Pilar's pickets could see like cats in the night. The scout reported that the big village of Concepcion was not far ahead; the men were making their stand before this rather important stronghold.

"We'll get a scrap that is a scrap, boys," said Connell exultingly. "These fellows are going to put up a fight at last. They're like bees up yonder. We've got to fall back on the company. If we don't, they'll chew us up before the little captain can get to us."

Too well did the men know the bellicose temperament of the big Irishman to think of grumbling at such a command, yet it was with a certain reluctance which invariably accompanies a backward step that the men retired to meet the advancing company.

Young Hunsamer in his khaki uniform was not the immature, debonaire man of the drawing room. Service, though short, had been hard and grueling. His face was even handsome with his rugged lines and set features. His eyes were clear and a darker gray; his hair seemed thicker and fiercer than before; his figure more erect and sinewy. The wistful look in his eyes seemed to betray hunger for action; his ever ready eagerness to be on the move told of his strength and of his weakness. He had the lean, active bearing of the panther and the restless daring of that little animal.

No man in the company had stood fire as valiantly as he. He courted the whizz of the bullet, scoffed at the rigors of the march and instinctively was a good shot with the rifle. He bore no grudge against the department at home; he had no grievance.

The officers recognized in him a man of parts, a man of station far above the position which he had chosen in the army. He was a source of mystery to the men of his own rank in the blue—the plowboys, the teamsters, the roustabouts and the ne'er-do-wells who had gone into the army from choice or discretion. At first they had called him the "dude" and had laughed at his white hands and clean jaws. His indifference to their taunts annoyed them. One day he knocked down the biggest bully of the lot and walked away without even waiting to see whether he would rise after the blow. He simply glared at the next man who chaffed. It was enough. The company held him in a new respect that forbade the reporting of the incident to the officer of the day.

Every night before he lay down to sleep, in the rice field or the barrios, he took from his pocket a leather case and gazed at the small portrait it sheltered. No one had been permitted to see him in his devotion, for that was what he called these sacred moments. His lean face, full of fierce energy all day long, softened as his eyes dwelt on the dainty miniature.

"Halt! Who goes there?"

A shot rang out in the stillness of the night. It was answered at once by another closer in. More shots followed, gradually increasing to a fusillade as the scouts and pickets came running back. Men sprang up from the ground, but even as they did so another volley reached them, and three men dropped with a groan and lay still. The alarm sounded clear from the high and echoed back from the surrounding hills. A sharp command came from the throat of the sergeant. The company seized the stricken rifles. Captain Groce gave another order. The formation to repeat attack was made in an incredibly short space of time. There was no disorder, no confusion. The little officer was as cool as if on dress parade.

"Steady, men! Wait until they're nearest!"

They had not long to wait. From all sides a horde of shouting, firing men were rushing on the little square.

"Here they are! Now, then, boys, fire!"

Volley after volley rang out. The foremost of the enemy fell at their feet. Hand to hand was the fighting. The bayonets lunged with deadly effect, but seemed powerless to thrust the mass back on itself. Men shot, hacked, stabbed and clubbed each other. It was a whirl of uplifting and descending rifles and blows.

Fierce oaths vied with the shrieks of the wounded for supremacy. The grunt of men who slaughter, the gasps of the victims when the steel went home, were heard on all sides. At times the soldiers could not see on account of the sweat and blood pouring from their faces. The very air was foul from the steam from the living and the dead. They could not breathe. A sort of vertigo overpowered them, and they only kept their feet by grasping with the enemy.

To Hunsamer it seemed that all his life he had been doing nothing but wandering off and delivering blows. Fighting side by side with Rogers, he saw, with horror, that the soldier's rifle had been torn from his hands and that he had no weapon to defend himself, but before he could see just how it happened this individual combat had altered his aspect. Rogers had grabbed the Filipino's gun and was doing the clubbing. With renewed zest Hunsamer finished with the bayonet his own assailant and saw the man fall on top of poor Adams and Belander.

Suddenly there was an exultant yell from the enemy. Instinctively Hunsamer knew that one side of the square had given way. Quickly turning, he rushed to give his aid and just in time caught the arm of a native about to slash him with a huge knife. With the two gripped hands high in the air struggling for mastery the adversaries became separated a bit from the rest of the chaotic mass of friend and foe, swaying out to one side of the plaza and under the walls of a convent. Hunsamer was facing it, and just at the moment that he felt his strength giving way and could see a grin of triumph on the fiendish face there came a flash and a roar, and his adversary fell at his feet. Glancing up to ascertain who had fired the shot that had saved his life, he thought he saw a figure disappearing from one of the windows. The incident acted as an inspiration. Gathering together a few men, he reached the captain's side and communicated his plan. The opportunity was not to be lost. Groce gave an order; Connell repeated it. Then interpreting a temporary halt to the murderous struggle as their vantage, the men, with a cheer and dragging the field piece, broke for the building and by bayoneting and clubbing the insurgents out of the way accomplished the dash with slight loss. The soldiers hurried themselves against the stoutly barred door. It fell with a crash.

Guards were stationed and all openings and windows manned. Singularly enough, these defensive actions seemed at least temporarily unnecessary, for the watchers peering out of the windows reported that the dead alone occupied the recent field of battle. Not a single Filipino was to be seen on the plaza.

Every village has its convent or barrios. Generally speaking, their size corresponds in a certain ratio with the population. But this particular building was an exception. Dimly lighted, it gave the impression of rambling in size with many of those in far larger villages. Immediately the thought came to the invaders that the church might have sheltered the insurgent leaders. Aguilado or Pilar might have directed the attack from inside these walls. Orders were given to search every corner and crevice to ferret out concealed foes. A rear window was open, proving that light could have been by that means of egress. Hunsamer was almost positive that the bullet which had killed his assailant had come from one of the upper windows, but whether from friend or foe was undeterminable. Were they not in a cunningly planned trap of some kind?

Considerably perplexed, Hunsamer decided to keep on his guard. He was ruthlessly searching the chance when a deep groan caught his attention. Presently, as he paused to listen, a dark figure leaped toward him from a recess back of the altar. The flash of a pistol blinded him and momentarily a sharp pain shot through his arm, but he recovered in time to throw his full frame forward upon the slight, almost indistinguishable figure. There was a short struggle, and before his comrades could reach him his adversary was safely pinned to the floor. A moment later the torches in the hands of his friends were burning brightly above the figure of his captive—a slender boy who choked with terror and rage.

"Who are you, my young friend?" asked Hunsamer, holding the boy at arm's length.

There was no answer from the tightly closed lips, and Hunsamer shook him a little roughly. Then for the first time he perceived that he was not a Filipino. His skin was dark, but not the skin of the natives. The handsome, boyish face had regular features European in character.

"Spaniard?" inquired Hunsamer a trifle more gently, and again the boy flashed a look of hatred into his captor's eyes.

FIFTEEN MEN ARE ROBBED.

Highwaymen Near Stirling City, Cal. Gather in Over $400.

Redding, Cal., Aug. 12.—Fifteen men were held up and robbed in relay Monday night by two highwaymen near Stirling City, on the road from that place to the camp of the Diamond Match company, located on the west bank of the Feather river. The robbers are said to have secured over $400 in money and almost as much in valuables.

Here's Summer Delight

Here's summer delight and stomach joy for those who like good things to eat and who have to cut out heavy winter foods. Take a Shredded Wheat Biscuit, heat in oven to restore crispness; crush a cavity in the top of the Biscuit, fill the cavity with berries or other fruit, pour milk or cream over it and sweeten to taste. Delicious? Well, rather. At your grocers.

Always heat the Biscuit in oven to restore crispness. Two Shredded Wheat Biscuits with milk or cream will supply all the energy needed for a half day's work. Try Toasted TRISCUIT, the Shredded Wheat wafer, for luncheon, with butter, cheese or marmalade.

The men robbed are all employees of the match company who were returning after dark from Stirling City, where they had gone to receive their month's pay. The highwaymen made their escape.

Negro Admits Robbing Bank.
Kansas City, Mo., Aug. 12.—George Wilcox, a negro formerly employed as a janitor in the National Bank of Commerce, Tuesday confessed to the theft of a package containing $8,500 from the bank on April 25, 1907.

WRIGHT AGAIN ROUSES FRENCH

MAKES HIS LONGEST AND MOST SUCCESSFUL FLIGHT.

IS MASTER OF AEROPLANE

Capt. Baldwin Makes Preliminary
Speed Trial of Dirigible Balloon Designed for Use of the Army.

Lemans, France, Aug. 12.—Tuesday evening Wilbur Wright of Dayton, O., made the longest and most successful flight of the series of aeroplane trials which he is conducting here, remaining in the air three minutes and forty-four seconds. The machine circled the field three times at the rate of 36 miles an hour.

On passing the grandstand Mr. Wright gracefully descended, until within speaking distance of the spectators, who wildly applauded his exhibition of mastery over the aeroplane, after which he soared like a bird to new heights and continued his flight until reaching the starting point where he gently landed.

Baldwin in a Speed Trial.
Washington, Aug. 12.—The official speed trial of Capt. Baldwin's dirigible balloon was again postponed Tuesday, but a preliminary speed trial was made with Mr. Curtis and Capt. Baldwin aboard. Capt. Baldwin again took a westerly course in order to become familiar with the official course lying in the direction of Falls Church. It is estimated an average speed of 18.7-10 miles was maintained.

There were a large number of spectators, including Secretary of War Luke E. Wright and James Allen, chief signal officer, present.

More Interest in Aeroplanes.
Greater interest seems to center in the aeroplanes to be tried at Fort Myer by the Wright brothers and A. M. Herring. The latter has requested an extension of 30 days in the time in which he is to deliver his machine, which will be granted. The Wright aeroplane is expected any day. Orville Wright is coming from Dayton, O., and it is thought that he will assemble his machine and make preliminary flights somewhere near Washington before notifying the signal corps of his readiness for the official trials.

SPECIAL RACES FOR TARS

GAY SCENE AT THE ELLERSLIE
COURSE NEAR AUCKLAND.

Admiral Sperry and Fleet Officers Go to Rotorua Where They Will Witness Maori Dances.

Auckland, New Zealand, Aug. 12.—No more beautiful sight over was witnessed at the picturesque Ellerslie race course than that of Wednesday, when a special race meeting was held for the entertainment of the officers and men of the American Atlantic fleet, Admiral Sperry and his staff and all the officers who could be spared from duty aboard ship, and the entire contingent of enlisted men on shore leave were present. The admiral and the officers were in full uniform. There was an enormous gathering to greet the Americans.

After the races Admiral Sperry and 200 of the officers of the fleet proceeded as the guests of Prime Minister Ward and the members of parliament to Rotorua, the township of Thermal district in the heart of the North Island, 171 miles from Auckland, by rail, where Thursday a magnificent new bathhouse will be opened. In connection with the function will occur a great gathering of Maori tribesmen, who will dance their famous war dances for the Americans.

For Wednesday night various sports and entertainments were arranged for the jockey, while the non-commissioned officers of the New Zealand garrison entertained at drill hall the non-commissioned officers of the American and Australasian ships.

"HOLD-UP" IN OYSTER BAY.
President's Son Helps Obtain Funds for Nassau Hospital.

Oyster Bay, Aug. 12.—There were numerous "hold-ups" on the streets of Oyster Bay Wednesday, and one of the hold-up artists was none other than the president's youngest son, Quentin. The proceeds of the hold-ups are to go to a worthy cause, the maintenance of the Nassau hospital at Minerva, the only one in Nassau county. Should the president venture forth from Sagamore Hill he likely will become a victim.

Being in urgent need of funds, the Nassau hospital has sent forth appeals to every town for assistance. In Oyster Bay the Oyster Bay Academy, whose pupils are all members of wealthy families in the vicinity, adopted novel means for securing funds. Each member of the academy was equipped with a Red Cross arm band and sent forth on horseback to hold up people, whether in automobiles, carriages or afoot, and take from them whatever sum they feel inclined to give.

LYNCHING IS THREATENED.

Armed Whites at Portsmouth, Va.,
After a Negro Murderer.

Norfolk, Va., Aug. 12.—Aroused to a frenzy by the killing of Patrolman W. S. Whitaker Tuesday by a negro named Strong, Portsmouth is thronged with armed whites, and should Whitaker's slayer be caught, a lynching is probable. The Portsmouth military company was called out at the request of Mayor Reed and is assisting the police in restoring order.

Strong has been located and is surrounded by police and citizens. It is a race between these to see which will seize the man. A guard has been thrown around the jail and every effort will be made to get Strong behind its walls before the mob gets him.

Liner Ashore; Passengers Taken Off.

Quebec, Que., Aug. 12.—Words were received here that the Dominion Line mail steamer Southwark, which sailed from Montreal on Saturday for Liverpool, struck bottom at Bras Point on the outer edge of Forteau bay, during a dense fog. A dispatch from Point Amour, states that the steamer Ottawa, bound from Liverpool for Montreal, ran alongside of the stranded Southwark and took off the passengers.

Gov. Deenen's Majority 11,613.

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 12.—Gov. Deenen has received complete returns by telegraph from every county in the state. These returns as announced Tuesday night give Deenen 211,054 votes, 189,141 for Richard Yates, a majority for Deenen of 11,613.

U. S. PAY CHECKS ARE STOLEN.

Thieves Got Nearly $2,000 from Messenger's Pouch in Washington.

Washington, Aug. 12.—A messenger's pouch containing United States government pay checks for nearly $2,000 was stolen early last week from in front of the building occupied by the department of commerce and labor, according to Chief Wilko of the secret service. The pouch was found with the pay checks gone, while the other mail it contained was intact, between this city and Alexandria, Va. The identity of the robber is not known.

The first intimation that Chief Wilko received of the theft was on last Saturday when one of the checks for $73.33, payable to R. F. Troxler, of the public health and marine hospital service, came through the Tiggs National bank of this city to the treasury department after having been cashed by the Lowry National bank of Atlanta, Ga. Tuesday a check payable to J. W. Kerr for $265.83 of the same service was received through the American National bank here, which had been cashed by the Fourth National bank of Montgomery, Ala.

Bloody Deed of Ohio Farmer.

Cincinnati, Aug. 12.—At Dallasburg, 26 miles east of this city, Tuesday, Levi Fannan, a farmer, 73 years of age, shot and fatally wounded his wife and seriously injured his daughter Effie, aged 15 years, and then took his own life.

Dead Man Identified as Defaulter.

Knoxville, Tenn., Aug. 12.—A young man who died at La Follette about two weeks ago was identified Tuesday as L. A. Westford, cashier of a bank at Alma, Okla., who disappeared last January and was found to be a defaulter.

BUSY DAYS FOR MR. TAFT

HITCHCOCK AND VORYS ARRIVE AT HOT SPRINGS, VA.

Latter Says Ohio Will Go Republican by About 120,000—Bills for Advisory Committee.

Hot Springs, Va., Aug. 12.—With Arthur L. Vorys, the Ohio Taft manager, and Mr. Taft's publicity assistant, Gus J. Kasper here Tuesday and Frank H. Hitchcock, national chairman, arriving Wednesday, the spot lights of the Republican national campaign seem about to focus on the Virginia mountains.

From this time on Mr. Vorys will spend the major portion of his time with his chief. He has endeavored to familiarize himself with every local political situation in Ohio and has added from 15,000 to 20,000 votes to his previous estimate that the Buckeye state would give the Republican national ticket a hundred thousand plurality. Mr. Vorys predicts the abundant success of the Ohio state ticket.

The important problem Mr. Hitchcock will present will be the selection of the members of the advisory committee of nine, decided on as means of aid in financing the national campaign. It is predicted that those men will be chosen for the most part from the commercial centers of the country.

New York, Aug. 12.—The subject of raising money to finance the Republican campaign was considered by Frank H. Hitchcock, chairman of the Republican national committee just before he left New York for Hot Springs, Va., where he will confer with Mr. Taft. The question of money raising was taken up with Cornelius N. Bliss, who was the Republican national treasurer four years ago. While neither of these gentlemen would discuss the situation at the close of the conference, it is practically settled that Mr. Taft has consented to accept a place on the advisory committee of nine members, which is to be a ways and means committee operating in conjunction with the chairman of the national committee.

IDAHO HAMLET BURNED.

Kootenai Is Destroyed and Sand Point
Is in Great Danger.

Sand Point, Idaho, Aug. 12.—With the wind blowing a gale and the adjacent town of Kootenai wiped out, it seems that no power can save Sand Point. At six o'clock Tuesday evening a small forest fire north of Kootenai was blown into the town and the town of 200 inhabitants was burned to the ground. The homeless people of the little hamlet have been brought here and are being cared for by citizens. All of them lost their belongings. Over 500 volunteers are fighting the approaching flames. Sand Point has a population of about 10,000. An appeal has just been sent to the Spokane fire department for aid.

The Value of Good Digestion

Is easy to figure if you know what your stomach is worth. Kodol keeps the stomach at par value, by insuring good digestion. Kodol cures Dyspepsia.

Kodol insures good digestion by absolutely duplicating Nature's normal process. In perfectly digesting all food taken into the stomach.

While Kodol is doing this, the stomach is resting—and becoming strong and healthy. A strong and healthy stomach guarantees a sound and active brain.

The man with a sound stomach—a stomach that is doing for the body just what Nature intended it to do—is the man who is always prepared for any emergency. He is "there with the goods."

The man with a sick stomach, in a man sick all over. When the stomach is irritated by indigestion, food, the blood and heart are directly affected. Then dizziness, unnatural sleepiness, sick-headaches, vertigo and fainting spells, and even serious brain trouble develop. Kodol will prevent these.
